

2023-25 Community Health Improvement Plan NEA Baptist Memorial Hospital

Our Commitment to Community Health

Baptist Memorial Health Care (Baptist) is dedicated to the health and well-being of the many communities we serve across the Mid-South. We believe strongly in corporate citizenship and the importance of collaboration with local organizations to build stronger and healthier communities.

To help us track community health and respond to the needs of residents, every three years we conduct a Community Health Needs Assessment (CHNA) and develop Community Health Improvement Plans (CHIP) for each community hospital. These endeavors help to ensure our initiatives, activities and partnerships align with our communities' most pressing concerns, and guide our community benefit investments. They are vital tools to guide community health improvement activities as well as enhance care delivery, improve patient engagement strategies and direct population health management.

Some of our key community initiatives are listed below.

Providing access to high-quality health care

We strive to ensure residents can receive care when they need it across the region. We reinvest resources in technology to bring the highest level of health care to people across the Mid-South. We invest in hospitals and health services to deliver care to communities the federal government considers as Medically Underserved Areas or Health Professional Shortage Areas. We extend our care through community clinics and mobile services to reach people who might not otherwise receive care. We subsidize services, such as emergency care, free and reduced services for the uninsured and preventive screenings that are essential for health, but not adequately covered by federal and state funding.

Developing community partnerships

We recognize that our hospitals are vital organizations within the communities we serve. And we know that we cannot address every community need by ourselves. To promote health and quality of life, we collaborate with community partners who have expertise in social needs, specialty services, faith leadership, advocacy and essential resources. We foster ongoing relationships with these partners and provide financial and in-kind gifts to support their work.

Investing in health care education and research

We support excellence in health care training and education through programs that focus on math, science and related subjects to prepare tomorrow's health care workforce. As we plan for the future, we provide training opportunities for emerging health care professionals and encourage students to pursue medicine, nursing and other allied health careers. Through leading-edge research and clinical trials, we help to advance learning in the medical field and develop new treatments for cancer and other diseases.

In these and many other ways, we demonstrate our commitment to the people we serve and our communities. In undertaking and funding regular community health needs assessments, we ensure our hospitals will be stronger partners in our neighborhoods and prepared to meet the future needs of all those who live there.

2023-25 Community Health Improvement Plan

What is a Community Health Improvement Plan (CHIP)?

A CHIP helps organizations move from data to action to address priority health needs identified in the CHNA. The CHIP serves as a guide for strategic planning and a tool by which to measure impact by detailing goals, objectives, strategies and action steps over the three-year reporting timeframe. Anchoring initiatives and community benefit activities to measurable objectives, the CHIP creates a framework for measuring the impact of our work.

Determining Community Health Priorities

Like the CHNA, the CHIP reflects input from diverse stakeholders and helps to foster collaboration among community-based organizations. Community health priorities were identified with feedback from community stakeholders, including historically underrepresented and underserved populations, health and social service providers and community health experts. These individuals provided input to both define challenges and recommend solutions to improve health in our communities.

The health priorities reflect the most pressing and cross-cutting health needs within our communities as determined by the CHNA and community input. Social determinants of health (SDoH) also have a significant impact on the health of communities, affecting each of the identified priorities and overall wellbeing. While not specifically addressed as a health priority in the CHIP, Baptist will continue to screen for SDoH and assist people in connecting to community resources like food security, housing and poverty. We will continue to support our community partners that provide these services.

In defining the 2023-25 priority areas and developing hospital CHIPs, Baptist outlined an overarching approach that promotes health in the communities we serve and centers strategies to advance health equity and mitigate the impact of SDoH. These efforts are aligned with existing community assets, population health management strategies and health equity initiatives.

OVERARCHING APPROACH

Develop goals, systems and processes that promote health in all spaces for the communities we serve.

2023-2025 HEALTH PRIORITIES

Behavioral Health	Chronic Diseases	Maternal and Child Health
Increase behavioral health screenings and treatment; Integrate with primary care	Increase access to care; Address social determinants of health; Reduce health disparities and mortality rates	Reduce birth disparities among Black/African American mothers and infants; Improve access to pre- and post-natal care

Developing a Plan for Health Improvement

Community health improvement requires collaboration among community-based organizations, policy makers, funders and many other partners. A CHIP is a guide to coordinate community resources and to measure progress as a community. The CHIP outlines systemwide goals and initiatives to address our community's most pressing health needs, and hospital-specific strategies that recognize the unique strengths and assets of our diverse communities. We will continue to monitor and share our progress toward these efforts during the 2023-25 reporting cycle.
